PROFILE: After a career in information technology in the City of London, I have lived in Italy since 2008 and taught English since 2011.

EXPERIENCE:

I obtained first class honours in mathematics at Cambridge University and my first work was in medical and industrial research. I developed an interest in the human potential movement, and became a freelance IT consultant, which allowed me to train in psychotherapy, alternating study and contract work. Then I became interested in painting, which led me to live for some years in rural France and in Italy. I married an Italian and we lived mostly in London until 2008 when we moved as a family to Italy; I continued a contract with a bank in London until 2010, working over the Internet. I had done some voluntary work as a teaching assistant, and when the contract eventually ended I obtained CELTA and started teaching English professionally.

EDUCATION:

CELTA Certificate in English Language Teaching to Adults, Oxford House College, London 2011
PGCE (incomplete) in Secondary Mathematics, Institute of Education, London 2007 - 8
Fine Arts Foundation course, Byam Shaw School of Art, London 1989 - 90
Training in psychotherapy, Gerda Boyesen Institute, London 1986 - 1988
Degree: B.A. Mathematics, Cambridge University • First class honours 1977
A levels: Pure Maths A, Applied Maths A, Physics A, Chemistry A • S levels: Pure Maths 1, Physics 1

Languages: English mother tongue. Italian C2, French C1, German A2.
